9.9.2. Complaint Procedure Steps

9.9.2.1. For a better understanding, the term "Complaint party" will be used for the party who submitted the complaint and the term "Respondent" will be used to the party against whom the complaint is filed.

9.9.2.2. Complaints can be raised within a maximum of 12 months from the original violation date. If the complaint is raised after 12 months, AIESEC can deny to proceed with the process.

9.9.2.3. For the case solving process to be considered valid, the Complaining party should always keep record of proofs of violations and communication, as well as receipts of all expenses.

- 9.9.2.3.1. AIESEC is not responsible to proceed with reimbursements where the Exchange Participant (EP) or Opportunity Provider (OP) is not able to prove the total amount spent with receipts and or other valid proofs.

- 9.9.3.1. The Complaint Procedure Process has three (3) steps, and the order should be respected:

- 9.9.3.1.1. First Phase

- 9.9.3.1.1.1. The Complaint party contacts the AIESEC Respondent party stating the issue that is being raised for a resolution, with at least a proposal of solution for the complaint, respecting the AIESEC Exchange Program Policies (AEPP). This can be done with one of the Exchange parties (the EP or the OP) contacting one of AIESEC representatives through email or other predefined written contact tool, or directly done between the AIESEC SE and the AIESEC HE, representing EP and/or OP.

- 9.9.3.1.1.2. The Response party should respond to the Complaint party and acknowledge the issue. The Response party should start negotiation with the Complaint party within twenty-four (24) hours of receiving the complaint.

- 9.9.3.1.2. Second Phase

- 9.9.3.1.2.1. The Respondent party should present a Solution Proposal for the Complaint party, in written format for both: the Complaint party and its respective AIESEC Entity.

- 9.9.3.1.2.2. The Complaint party should accept or reject the proposal within forty-eight (48) hours in a written format.

- 9.9.3.1.2.3. If the Solution is accepted, the case is closed. Both AIESEC entities are responsible to follow up with the implementation.

- 9.9.3.1.2.4. If the solution is rejected, the Complaint party can propose another solution for the Response party.

- 9.9.3.1.3. Third Phase

- 9.9.3.1.3.1. If no solution was presented for the Complaint party claims after seventy-two (72) hours from the first contact, it is advised to contact the Response party stakeholders such as the President of the AIESEC Local Chapter and / or the Member Committee (MC).
- 9.9.3.1.3.2. If the Parties involved cannot reach a mutual agreement by the end of this timeline of negotiation of seventy-two (72) hours, and both sides do not agree on an extension, the Complaint AIESEC Entity is advised to bring forth the situation to its Entity Control Board (ECB). The ECB should proceed with the National Case Solving Stage, as written below.
- 9.9.3.1.4. If no solution is found within 3 days, the case can be raised to the national level, held by the Entity Control Board (ECB).
- 9.9.3.1.4.1. The Exchange Participant (EP) and the Opportunity Provider (OP) can request the contact of the Entity Control Board of their AIESEC Sending Entity (SE) by contacting the AIESEC Local Chapter.

9.9.4. AIESEC National Case Solving Stage - ECB to ECB

- 9.9.4.1. Complaining parties can raise complaints with appropriate local parties within one month of the date of the alleged violations. ECB shall automatically accept arbitration of cases where parties started negotiation/communication with each other on disputes within one month of the violation. However, the ECB Chair shall have discretion in accepting or rejecting arbitration of cases where:
 - 9.9.4.1.1. Communication between AIESEC Local Chapters didn't work within one week, especially if the case is urgent.
 - 9.9.4.1.2. The case was raised after one month of the date of the alleged violations.
 - 9.9.4.1.3. The ECB Chair (responding part) can reject to proceed with a case (claiming part) in ECB to ECB level if the date of the violation is longer than 1 year (12 months) than the date received.

9.9.4.2. First Phase

- 9.9.4.2.1. If the LC stage has met no agreement, the Claiming ECB should loop Respondent party ECB in an official email with case current state, proof and claims, and current proposals for resolution. ECBs are responsible to make sure that the LC stage process and times was successfully followed.
- 9.9.4.2.2. Respondent ECB replies within forty-eight (48) hours to analyse the case, go through the proof and also contact the LC against whom the case is filed. The Respondent ECB should provide at least one solution plan.

9.9.4.3. Second Phase

- 9.9.4.3.1. Complaining ECB to reply to Respondent ECB in the next forty-eight (48) hours with their response after analysing the case and proposal.
- 9.9.4.3.2. ECB-ECB negotiations may not exceed ninety-six (96) hours. It is only allowed to exceed ninety-six (96) hours in case of extraordinary situations or statutory holidays. The extension should be agreed upon between both ECBs in written format.
- 9.9.4.3.3. If the parties involved can not reach a mutual agreement by the end of the ECB stage, the claiming entity is advised to bring forth the situation to ICB, to proceed with the Official Case Application Stage, as written below.
- 9.9.4.4. It is advised that at any stage of the Case solving flow, any party can approach ICB to request a consultancy, to understand the proof validation and have insights in next steps before escalating the case.
- 9.9.4.5. If the parties were able to find an agreement, the solution should be formalized in the written format for the case to be closed. Both ECBs are responsible to follow up with implementation.
- 9.9.4.5.1. Once the case is closed and formalized with a written format, it cannot be reopened.

9.9.4.5.2. If the implementation involves financial compensation and the deadlines to proceed with the refund were not followed, the entity who is expecting the payment can raise an Official Case Application to ICB.

9.9.4.5.2.1. In this situation, ICB will only evaluate the proof of the agreement between both entities (date and total amount) and the implementation timeline. If the delay is confirmed, the entity in debt will automatically lose 1 (one) Official Case Application.

9.9.4.5.3. If the implementation involves financial compensation, it is recommended that the total amount of reimbursements be calculated in CAD, USD and or EUR (to be defined by the ECB responsible for the case). The amount will only be based on the receipts provided during the case solution.

9.9.4.5.3.1. If the receipts received are not in CAD, USD, EUR and or are in different currencies, ECB shall transform all of them in an unique currency and use the conversion according to the day, month and year of the receipt to calculate the final amount.

9.9.4.5.4. No expenses should be refunded without receipts.

9.9.4.5.5. If new expenses were able to be proved with receipts after the confirmation of total amount in ECB level, the complaint part will be automatically liable to reimburse the EP and or OP with the amount.

9.9.4.6. If no solution is found within 7 days (1 week), the case can be raised to the international level, held by the International Control Board (ICB).

9.9.5. AIESEC International Control Board - Official Case Application (OCA)

9.9.5.1. Any Exchange Participant (EP) and the Opportunity Provider (OP) can contact the International Control Board by sending an email to <icb@ai.aiesec.org>.

9.9.5.2. A case can only be accepted in an international level if all previous levels were followed according to the clauses written on this document.

9.9.5.2.1. If an EP and or OP reaches out to ICB and the previous levels were not respected, ICB will redirect the EP and or OP directly to the ECB Chair responsible for the entities involved.

9.9.5.3. After the International Control Board (ICB) confirms the process of the case, a solution should be provided within ten (10) days.

9.9.5.3.1. The International Control Board (ICB) is the last instance of any quality case involving Exchange Participants and or Opportunity Providers in AIESEC exchanges.

9.9.5.4. Official Case Application

9.9.5.4.1. To proceed with the OCA, the complaint entity needs to fill the OCA template, Annex 5: Official Case Application Template to this document. Once the template is filled, the ECB Chair is responsible to make sure all proofs and claims are correct and valid, since they will be submitting an Official Document. The ECB Chair should follow all the procedures in the annex, and submit the case for ICB, preferably already copying the respondent entity on the loop.

9.9.5.4.2. After receiving the email, ICB accepts/rejects the case in a maximum of forty-eight (48) hours.

9.9.5.4.3. ICB can reject a case under the following circumstances:

9.9.5.4.3.1. One or more of the claims are considered invalid. The claims will be considered invalid if:

9.9.5.4.3.1.1. There are zero (0) proofs attached to the OCA. 9.9.5.4.3.1.2.

The claim is not supported by any APIP clauses. 9.9.5.4.3.1.3. The claim is unclear and/or can have double interpretation.

9.9.5.4.3.2. The claiming part did not use the OCA template, found in the Annex section of this document and or, the template submitted has any unconformity.

9.9.5.4.4. If accepted formally by email, the respondent entity has five (5) days to send an Official Case Response. If the respondent entity does not reply within five (5) days neither ask to extend the DDL, ICB accepts the OCA as final document where the respondent entity is no longer able to fill it back.

9.9.5.4.4.1. In this situation, ICB will evaluate the OCA taking into consideration only the proofs submitted by the claiming part and both entities still have the chance to win or lose the case.

9.9.5.4.4.2. ICB will only give an OCA lcase lost for the complaint party without the respondent party information if the OCA does not have enough proof to sustain the claims.

9.9.5.5. Official Case Solution

9.9.5.5.1. ICB sends out the solution within five (5) days from the day of ICB confirmation of receiving the final OCA file by both parties. The day in which ICB solution is sent, counts as the day of “lost case” and as the first day of reimbursement procedures, if it applies.

9.9.5.5.2. ICB will recommend both entities to write and submit one (1) apology letter from each side, if it applies, for the customer involved in the case, to be submitted within five (5) days from resolution.

9.9.5.5.3. If the ICB solution involves financial compensation, the entity who lost the case has a maximum of 6 months to pay at least 50% of the total amount for the EP, and a maximum of 12 months to conclude the payment of the total amount.

9.9.5.5.3.1. If at least 50% of payment exceeds 6 months and or the total amount was not paid after 12 months since the ICB solution was sent, the entity in debt will lose automatically 1 more Official Case Application with ICB.

9.9.5.5.3.1.1. ICB is not responsible to track any compensation procedures for EP, but any entity can submit proofs to support the implementation of the clause mentioned in Section 9.8 of this document.

9.9.5.5.3.2. In instances where a decision involving a fine is not paid by the involved parties within the 12 months, AI should automatically pay this sum from its funds and record it as loan for the owning entity in their entity balance.

9.9.5.5.4. In this phase, ICB is the final responsible to define the total amount of reimbursements.

9.9.5.5.4.1. The total amount of reimbursements will be calculated in CAD, USD and or EUR (to be defined by the ICB responsible for the OCA). The amount will only be based on the receipts attached to the original OCA.

9.9.5.5.4.1.1. If the receipts received are not in CAD, USD, EUR and or are in different currencies, ICB will transform all of them in an unique currency and use the conversion according to the day, month and year of the receipt to calculate the final amount.

9.9.5.5.4.1.2. No receipts will be accepted after the submission of the original OCA, unless it is added in an Official Appealing.

9.9.5.5.4.1.3. No expenses will be refunded without receipts. 9.9.5.5.4.1.4. If new expenses were able to be proved with receipts after the solution of the OCA and after the timeline for Official Appealings, the complaint party will be automatically liable to reimburse the EP and or OP with the amount.

9.9.5.6.1. An appeal is a procedure where an Entity can reopen an existing Official Case Solution proposed previously by ICB to change the outcome of the case.

9.9.5.6.2. An appeal is not a second chance to win a case, it is only aimed at studying new inputs to the case that might change the final outcome.

9.9.5.6.3. An appeal request is valid if:

9.9.5.6.3.1. The appealing entity has met all the OCA deadlines.

- 9.9.5.6.3.2. The request complies with the proper fulfillment of the Appeal Annex request.
- 9.9.5.6.3.3. The appeal request is signed by both ECB Chair and MCP of the requesting entity.
- 9.9.5.6.4. An appeal may happen only when a new claim, new proof and or new input that was not submitted, evaluated or mentioned in the Official Case Application.
- 9.9.5.6.5. If your appeal request is rejected, it is counted as an appeal attempt.
- 9.9.5.6.6. An Appeal solution is a final statement, no appeals can happen in response to the appeal solution under any circumstances.
- 9.9.5.6.7. ICB Must approve the appeal request before looking into the case or entities presenting new proofs.
- 9.9.5.6.8. Two appeals can be presented, one per entity, only if the claims appealed on were different.
